Hi TommyC, you mean you want to embed the "wiki:user:tommyc:about_me" page inside a frame in your user page?
We had a discussion about embedding wiki pages into other wiki pages, and at that time I decided that because of the potential risk of data disclosure (badly written other plugins could reveal data through embedding that avoids the wiki's ACL settings) we should not add support for embedding.
If you have compelling reasons for wanting this, then please tell us, if you can convince the admins we will reconsider adding this feature to the Wiki.
