

Supported languages

The Wiki for Slackware's documentation has initially been configured to support the following languages (see the language dropdown in the left sidebar):

- Arabic | لعربية
- Dutch | Nederlands
- Farsi \(Persian\) | فارسی
- French | Français
- German | Deutsch
- Greek | ελληνικά
- Indonesian | Indonesia
- Italian | Italiano
- Polish | Polski
- Portuguese \(Brazil\) | Português do Brasil
- Romanian | Română
- Russian | Русский
- Serbian | српски језик
- Spanish | Español
- Ukrainian | Український
- Zhongwen \(Simplified Chinese\) | 中文
- Traditional Chinese | 繁體

This does not mean we do not support other languages. Rather, we think that getting the Wiki translated in these languages has the largest chance for success.

If you want to contribute articles in a language which is not listed above, that is entirely possible. If you want to have your language officially supported by the wiki (so that it shows up in the language selection drop-down to the left and the Wiki interface will use your language instead of english), please contact us or write your comments in this page's "discussion" section.

slackdocs

From:

<http://docs.slackware.com/> - SlackDocs

Permanent link:

<http://docs.slackware.com/slackdocs:languages>

Last update: 2014/10/06 21:19 (BST)

